

Thermally Curable Grades of Butyl

Ideas on paper only. New derivatives of butyl type rubbers that are stable at normal temperatures but undergo crosslinking when heated to typical processing temperatures and do not require the addition of other curing agents.

Cost = $40k

Likelihood of Success = 6.5

Earning Potential = 6

Return on Investment = Open to Negotiation.